Overview - Singapore

Early Childhood and Development Agency

The Early Childhood and Development Agency serves as the regulatory and developmental authority for the early childhood sector in Singapore, overseeing all aspects of children's development below the age of 6, across both kindergartens and childcare centres.

Early Childhood and Development Agency is an autonomous agency jointly overseen by the Ministry of Education and the Ministry of Social and Family Development, and hosted under the Ministry of Social and Family Development.

Early Childhood and Development Agency was officially launched on 1 April 2013 and integrates the regulation, planning, professional development and public education functions of Ministry of Education's Pre-School Education Branch and Ministry of Social and Family Development's Child Care Division.

Early Childhood and Development Agency's key responsibilities are to:

- Oversee measures to raise quality standards of early childhood programmes, including regulation, quality assurance, and the provision of early childhood development resources;
- Facilitate the training and continuing professional development of early childhood professionals;
- Master-plan for infrastructure and manpower resources to support the early childhood sector;
- Provide subsidies and grants to keep quality pre-school programmes affordable, especially for low and middle income families; and
- Conduct public education and outreach to raise parents' awareness and support for their children's development.
Government Funding - Singapore

Childcare subsidies
To enhance the affordability of childcare services in Singapore, the Singaporean Government provides child care subsidies to working and non-working mothers whose children are enrolled in a licensed centre.

From 1 April 2013, the ComCare Child Care Subsidies (also known as the Centre Based Financial Assistance for Child Care or CFAC) was combined with the universal working mother subsidy, into one subsidy framework. This simplifies the application process for parents and childcare operators.

All parents will continue to receive a Basic Subsidy. Families with a gross monthly income of up to SG$7,500 will receive an Additional Subsidy depending on the monthly income.

Childcare centres can apply on behalf of parents for these Subsidies to the Early Childhood and Development Agency.

Government Regulation - Australia

National Quality Framework
The recent introduction of the National Quality Framework has seen a large change to the regulatory environment of the childcare industry in Australia. Introduced in January 2012, the framework replaces existing State-based standards, licensing and regulations. As an agreement between the Commonwealth, State and Territory Governments of Australia, it establishes a standardised national quality assessment and regulation framework for early childhood education and care. The National Quality Framework initially covers most long day care services, outside school hours care services, preschools (or kindergartens) and family day care services; however, some services are excluded such as occasional care and education and in-home care and education.

National Quality Standard
The National Quality Standard is a key aspect of the National Quality Framework and sets a national benchmark against which early childhood education and care services, and outside school hours care services, are rated. Services are assessed and given a rating against seven ‘Quality Areas’ as well as an overall rating. The ratings process aims to drive continuous quality improvement and provide families with better information for making choices about their children’s education and care.
National Quality Standard

1. Educational program and practice
2. Children’s health and safety
3. Physical environment
4. Staffing arrangements
5. Relationships with children
6. Partnerships with families and communities
7. Leadership and service management

Significant Improvement Required
Service does not meet one of the seven quality areas or a section of the legislation and there is an unacceptable risk to the safety, health and wellbeing of children. Immediate action will be taken to address issues.

Working Towards National Quality Standard
Service may be meeting the National Quality Standard in a range of areas, but there are one or more areas identified for improvement.

Meeting National Quality Standard
Service meets the National Quality Standard. Service provides quality education and care in all seven quality areas.

Exceeding National Quality Standard
Service goes beyond the requirements of the National Quality Standard in at least four of the seven quality areas.

Excellent
Service promotes exceptional education and care, demonstrates sector leadership, and is committed to continually improving. This rating can only be awarded by ACECQA. Services rated Exceeding National Quality Standard may choose to apply for this rating.
Government Funding - Australia

The Commonwealth Government provides fee assistance to families to increase the accessibility of childcare. Government investment in childcare has increased significantly over the last decade (Figure 2) and Commonwealth Government funding is expected to continue with this trend (Figure 3).

The Commonwealth Government provides families with two main forms of financial assistance – Child Care Benefit and the Child Care Rebate. These two assistance programs are central in supporting families to increase their participation in the workforce and the early education and development of their children.

Child Care Benefit
The Child Care Benefit, which was introduced on 1 July 2000 to replace previous Commonwealth Government funding programs, is an income tested payment based on family income which reduces the cost of childcare. Payments are typically paid directly to providers approved to receive the Child Care Benefit to reduce the out of pocket fees payable, although parents and guardians can elect to have the payment received as a lump sum. The Child Care Benefit is indexed to changes in the CPI.

Child Care Rebate
The Child Care Rebate was introduced in 2004 to supplement the Child Care Benefit and is a non-income tested payment to help recover the out of pocket costs to parents and guardians, of childcare. The rebate covers up to 50% of out of pocket costs up to a maximum of A$7,500 per child per year, where it will remain, subject to the passage of legislation, until 30 June 2017.

Other Commonwealth Government funding
In addition to the Child Care Benefit and Child Care Rebate, the Commonwealth Government also has in place other support initiatives to assist with the cost of childcare. These include the Jobs, Education and Training Child Care fee assistance program, the Grandparent Child Care Benefit and the Special Child Care Benefit.

State Government

The vast majority of direct government funding to the childcare industry, and users of the childcare industry is by the Commonwealth Government. State and Territory Government funding focuses predominantly on the provision of preschool services which accounted for 81.8% or A$1.1 billion of the A$1.4 billion State and Territory Government expenditure on childcare and preschool services in 2012-13.

Direct childcare services funding programs vary between the States and Territories.
